IAMA, Peru, Nov. 10.—Heavy cannonading was heard at sea yesterday off the Chilean seaport of Coronel, according to reports received here from Chile.

Thirty-five thousand men and one hundred guns have left. Those in the direction of Gent and forty-eight wagons loads of munitions have left Bruges for the same destination.

London, Nov. 10 (12:15 p. m.)—It was officially announced in London today that the German cruiser Emden has been driven ashore and burned.

The losses among the officers and crew of the Emden are reported to have been very heavy.

The Emden was destroyed in the Indian ocean by the Australian cruiser Sydney. She was driven ashore on an island of the Cocos group.

The Sydney sighted the Emden yesterday morning. With superior speed she at once closed in and gave battle. The German boat could not escape. There was a running fight, at the end of which the Emden, burning from the mouth of the Australian boat, was beached.

The obstacles on the Sydney are said to have been slight. Since early in August, the Emden has captured 22 vessels, mostly British.

No accurate estimate can be made of the value of the vessels destroyed by the Emden or of their cargoes. Shipping men have variously placed the extent of the damage at $1,000,000 to $1,000,000. These estimates are based upon the vessels known to have been sunk by the Emden, but it is not unlikely that additional ships whose loss has not been reported were sent to the bottom by the German cruiser.

No information regarding the strength of the forces engaged has been published here, but they must have been considerable, as the Russians are reported as having lost 4,000 prisoners in German hands.

The fighting was on the old battle ground where the Germans met the Russians in the early days of the war, and which since has been the scene of repeated engagements. The tide of invasion and counter attack swept back and forth across the frontier.

No news has been heard here of the Russian operations against the German positions on the river Warta, where the Germans met the Russians in the early days of the war, and which since has been the scene of repeated engagements. The tide of invasion and counter attack swept back and forth across the frontier.

After the skirmishes of the Koenigsberg had been indicated by the attack on the Peacock on the 13th of September, a concentration of fast cruisers was arranged by the admiralty in east African waters and a thorough prolonged search was made by these vessels.

This search resulted, October 26, in the Koenigsberg's being discovered by H. M. S. Chatham, Captain Oliver G. Druce, L. W. R. in shoal water about six miles up the Rufiji river opposite Mafia Island, German East Africa. Owing to a greater draught, the Chatham could not reach the Koenigsberg, which probably lay dormant except at high water. Part
